

THE CHURCH WAS NEVER MEANT TO STAND ON THE SIDELINES

Addiction has claimed over one million young lives in the last decade alone.

- Millions of families.
- Millions of children.

This is not only a public health crisis. It is a moral and spiritual one.

Faith leaders and faith based organizations are essential to the future of recovery in America.

- Every church is impacted by addiction.
- Most suffer in silence.

Reach Impact Institute exists to help faith leaders and faith-based organizations move people from rescue to recovery with clarity, credibility, and measurable impact.

The Church must be equipped to address addiction as a complex, chronic disease while remaining fully aligned with its faith, mission, and calling.

Reach provides the structure, support, and expertise to do both without compromising faith or ignoring real world recovery needs.

WHERE THE CHURCH MAKES THE GREATEST IMPACT

- Faith Based Recovery Housing and Programs
- Addiction is a chronic disease.
- Recovery requires more than abstinence.

WE ARE ASKING FOR A CONVERSATION – NOT A COMMITMENT

A brief call to explore how your church or faith-based organization can engage in recovery efforts and help lead this moment with credibility and purpose.

RESCUE TO RECOVERY

ADDICTION IS A DEFINING CRISIS OF OUR TIME

George Massengill, President of REACH Impact Institute (right), with Robert F. Kennedy Jr., U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services (left).

REACH equips churches and faith-based organizations to support:

- Faith based sober living that bridges detox and stability
- Church centered recovery programs that are evidence based, trauma informed, and spiritually grounded
- Programmatic designs that respect faith convictions while incorporating proven clinical and supportive practices

When faith, structure, and community walk together, recovery lasts and lives are restored.

The Church is being called to lead in healing and restoration.

George Massengill, President of REACH Impact Institute has decades of experience across addiction recovery, clinical practice, public policy, and community-based solutions.

Chairman of the Addiction Advisory Council for Congressman Tim Burchett.

Works alongside federal, state, and local leaders, including the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, to advance practical recovery solutions nationwide.

These relationships exist for one purpose: To ensure faith based organizations and church communities are informed, equipped, and positioned to be effective partners in saving lives.
